CMT1E patient with two kids also affected by CMT. With a scientific background and a master's degree in logistics and IT, he worked in this field and founded a logistics and transportation company (7-10M€/yr) he ran for years. The highlight of his career, from 2016 to 2022, was when he decided to take control of everything that was happening to him and his family...

He then embarked on the fight against CMT with his entrepreneurial spirit and a clear objective: to find a cure for his children's generation! Driven by this conviction, he now chairs CMT-France and has joined the board of directors of major organizations such as ECRA.
